SPORTS CENTRE SPY AND JR NURSE RAPIST IS JAILED

• Andrew Hutchinson caught on camera leaving Abingdon's White Horse Leisure Centre

A GARFORD nurse who police discovered raped two unconscious patients after he was caught filming young girls at Abingdon's White Horse Leisure Centre has been jailed for 18 years.

Andrew Hutchinson, 29, was sentenced for a total of 27 offences against 29 different women and girls at Oxford Crown Court on Monday.

The court heard that Hutchinson raped two women in the A&E department at Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital in October 2011 and February 2012, with neither of the victims having any knowledge of what happened until police told them earlier this year.

Hutchinson's crimes were only uncovered after two young girls, aged nine and 14, reported being filmed while they were getting changed at the leisure centre.

He was arrested in November 2013, before the subsequent police investigation uncovered the full extent of Hutchinson's crimes.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Hutchinson was then re-arrested and charged in December 2014.

Judge Ian Pringle, in his sentencing remarks, said: "It is impossible to conceive a greater betrayal of trust in our society.

"What you have done in a grotesque breach of trust should not have a negative impact on the doctors and nursing professions."

Hutchinson was sentenced to nine years for each of the rapes, to run consecutively, while the jail terms for the other offences will run concurrently.

In a statement read out at court, one of the rape victims said that on being told of what had happened she was in "complete shock", and her "life had completely changed".

She added she was "struggling to cope", and that she feels "pure hatred" towards Hutchinson.

Det Ch Insp Mark Johns, who led the investigation into the case, said: "I have no doubt that Hutchinson would have continued to offend had he not been arrested, so I am delighted that this prolific offender will now be behind bars for a significant period of his life."

Court date set for murder accused

THE man charged with murder after a man in his 30s died last week will register his plea at Oxford Crown Court on July 17.

Rafal Stawski, 34, of Mayfair Road in Oxford, is accused of killing the victim, who died from chest injuries at the John Radcliffe Hospital last Wednesday morning.

The victim has reportedly been named as 35-year-old Wojciech Ryniak, from Gloucestershire, but had not been confirmed by the police as the Guardian went to press.

Police had been called to reports of a man having been found injured inside a red Mazda car close to the junction of Northway and Burchester Avenue, in Barton, the night before.

A 31-year-old man had been arrested at the scene on suspicion of attempted murder – which subsequently became murder after the victim died.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

But police said on Saturday that no further action would be taken against him.

Stawski was arrested last Wednesday evening at his Mayfair Road home, and was charged on Friday with one count of murder.

He appeared via videolink at Oxford Crown Court on Tuesday morning, where the date for a plea and case management hearing was set for July 17.

DCI Andy Bird, from St Aldate's police station, said: "Local officers have maintained a physical presence in Barton, following the report of an injured man in Northway who sadly died."

He continued: "Crime across the city continues to fall as we work with our communities and our partners to keep Oxford a safe place to live, work and visit.

"At the same time we wish to reassure people that police officers and staff continue to work hard to protect our communities from harm by reducing and solving crime.

"Should anyone have any concerns or issues, please speak to the officers or make contact with your neighbourhood police team."

The Northway and Burchester Avenue junction was shut by police following the murder, but was reopened to the public last Thursday.

E-fit released after Oxford bus stop robbery

POLICE have released an e-fit of a man they are looking for in connection with a robbery in Oxford this month.

At around 2.50pm on April 4, a 22-year-old man was sitting on at a bus stop bench in Wood Farm Road, when another man got off a bus opposite and took the victim's phone, demanding money if he wanted it back.

He punched the victim, who handed over cash, and threw his phone on the ground before chasing a bus onto The Slade.

He is described as black, 6ft 6ins tall, aged between 24 and 28, with a large nose, short black hair and a trimmed beard.

He was wearing blue jeans, white trainers and jacket.

Investigating officer PC Helen Burns said: "This was a frightening experience for the victim and we need the public's help."

News Bites

Train collision

OXFORD: A man is in a critical but stable condition after he was hit by a train at Oxford Station on Tuesday.

Paramedics were called at 12.25pm and took the man to John Radcliffe Hospital, where his condition is believed to be potentially life-threatening.

Trains resumed 15 minutes after the incident and British Transport Police have told the Guardian the incident is not being treated as suspicious.

Uni ups wages

OXFORD: Employees of Oxford University will be paid the living wage, the institution announced yesterday.

The university has been accredited by the Living Wage Foundation, meaning its employees and contractors will be paid a minimum of £7.85 an hour.

Stephen Goss, pro-vice-chancellor for personnel and equality, said: "I am very pleased the university is taking this step."

The national minimum wage set by government is currently £6.50 per hour.

Quick trials

OXFORD: New figures have revealed that Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust is the second best in England for the time taken to begin clinical trials involving new treatments.

Data published by the National Institute for Health Research showed that 95 per cent of studies recruited their first patient within 70 days.

Keith Channon, director of research and development at the trust, said: "Getting studies started quickly is a vital step towards ensuring new discoveries are swiftly applied in clinical practice."

Forced labour victim

FOUR people pleaded guilty to charges of forced labour and fraud at Oxford Crown Court on Friday after a victim was made to work for two years unpaid and attacked when he tried to leave.

They are be sentenced on June 8 at the same court for 12 counts between them.

Paul Joyce, 33, of Red Bridge Hollow in Old Abingdon Road, Oxford, pleaded guilty to three counts of fraud, one of common assault and two of forced labour.

His wife Helen Cash, 30, of the same address, pleaded guilty to three counts of fraud and one of forced labour.

Michael Joyce, 25, also of Red Bridge Hollow, pleaded guilty to one count of forced labour.

And Ifran Iqbal, 29, of Millfield Walk, in Hemel Hempstead, pleaded guilty to one count of fraud.

They all relate to a 27-year-old victim, Daniel Collins, who was forced to work unpaid and threatened or intimidated to commit crimes between January 2012 and November 2013.

He was prevented from leaving.

When he did try and leave in November 2012 Mr Collins was assaulted by Paul Joyce, and suffered bruising to his head and body.

Paul Joyce and Cash falsely used the his bank account details and cards.

And Paul Joyce, Cash and Iqbal falsely claimed Mr Collins was entitled to claim housing benefit in Hemel Hempstead.

He was reported missing in November 2013 and found in Redbourn, Hertfordshire.

The four defendants were arrested in March last year and charged in December 2014.

The convictions come after a police anti-slavery raid of over 150 officers in Oxford on March 26, called Operation Rague - which included a caravan site in Red Bridge Hollow, Old Abingdon Road.

Martin focussing on People of Abingdon

AN ABINGDON photographer who is planning to take pictures of 2,000 people over the next six months for a project unique to the town is appealing for subjects to snap this weekend.

Martin Wackenier, 41, of Vineyard, is creating a mural of Market Place made up of the faces of Abingdon residents.

So far he has compiled almost 100 images for the 'People of Abingdon' project, and Martin is hoping the completed mural will be exhibited in the Guildhall after its redevelopment.

"What inspired it was a guy in New York that actually does something called 'Humans of New York', where he has a blog and every day he's gone out and taken pictures of New Yorkers," said Martin.

"Basically behind each picture there's a story and I was really fascinated by this, so I thought rather than doing this to that kind of scale, how about doing a local version of it.

"Whilst I was thinking about it, rather than it being a blog I thought maybe it could be a mural, and when you go closer it's actually made up of the faces of the people of Abingdon."

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Martin is looking for between 100 and 200 people to come to Abingdon's Market Place between 10am and 6pm on Saturday to have their photo taken.

He will also ask for some information about them, to build up a snapshot of the demographic of the town.

Martin added: "The enthusiasm is immense, people have said that this is such a good idea, and that it's nice someone is doing something for Abingdon.

"The response has been superb, and to have that after just one official session last month, it's spreading like wildfire."

To see the progression of the project, go to devine-timesphotography.com.

Victim 'struggling to cope' after discovering crime

• From front page

He added: "This has been a particularly complicated, unusual and sensitive case as the victims of his sex offences were not aware that offences took place because they were not conscious.

"I cannot imagine the distress they have been through since we had to inform them they were a victim in this complex investigation."

Other offences Hutchinson was sentenced for included acts of voyeurism at the White Horse Leisure Centre, and two sexual assaults at the Wilderness Festival's medical tent at Cornbury Park in 2013.

Hutchinson previously pleaded guilty to all 27 offences at a previous hearing at the same court on March 30.

Catherine Stoddart, chief nurse at Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust, said: "This has been a truly shocking case.

"As a nurse I am shocked and horrified by the way in which Andrew Hutchinson has betrayed the patients he was entrusted to care for and his colleagues.

"Now that the court processes are complete, we will be carrying out a thorough internal review to see if anything could have been done to prevent Andrew Hutchinson from committing these crimes and to recommend any improvements that could be made."

Hutchinson will serve a minimum of 12 years in custody, after which he will be released on license for 25 years.

Teams needed

ABINGDON: Teams are being sought for this year's Dragon Boat Day, being held on the River Thames in Abingdon on September 6.

The Rotary Club of Abingdon Vesper, which organises the annual event, is looking for teams of around 20 people from businesses, community groups and sets of friends to take to the water.

For more information, go to abingdondragonboats.org.uk.

Chocks away!

ABINGDON: Hundreds of planes are set to take to the skies for this year's Abingdon Air and Country Show, being held on Sunday.

The former RAF Abingdon airfield is host to the annual airshow, which will feature flying displays from Spitfires, Hurricanes and Typhoons, as well as static aircraft, live music and stalls.

The show will run from 10am to 5.30pm.

Grand opening

ABINGDON: A wood recycling enterprise that moved to Abingdon earlier this year has officially opened its new base in Suffolk Way.

Oxford Wood Recycling saw Conservative MP candidate Nicola Blackwood cut the ribbon on Saturday morning.

Chief executive Richard Snow said: "These larger premises in a town are needed to give potential local beneficiaries better access to our services."

City's top cop heats up the Strictly Oxford dance floor

A POLICE superintendent walked away with the main prize on Saturday night as 15 local celebrities strutted their stuff at the Strictly Oxford competition at Oxford's New Theatre.

Oxford's police commander Christian Bunt won their competition with professional partner Sally Shepherd at the event's fourth annual event ahead of 14 other local celebrities.

Supt Bunt said: "I had never ever danced until six weeks before the competition so I was quite shocked but extremely pleased to win it as I have never been that nervous in all my years in the force!"

Christian's daughters, aged six and seven, burst into tears as he danced to their favourite song 'Let It Go' from Disney hit animation Frozen.

"My daughters were absolutely in bits, jumping and hopping about, so I think I've achieved hero dad status with this performance," he added.

The celebrities took to the floor and gave their best shot at a waltz, jive and freestyle dance for the judges.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Event organiser Mary Carrey said: "It was thrilling, the audience had the most entertaining time, it was great fun with fantastic music and beautiful dresses."

The judges' line-up was made up of world ballroom showdance champion and Strictly Come Dancing star Joanne Clifton, as well as BBC Radio Oxford's Bill Heine, professional dancer Przemark Fokt and Latin dance teacher George Martini.

Frank Webster, 53, director of property letting company Finders Keepers, finished in second place with his dance partner, Jane Holmes.

Frank said: "I'm feeling on cloud nine. There was amazing camaraderie between the 15 of us, and we all took advantage of this great opportunity."

He continued "We're all planning to get together and watch the DVD and have a laugh together.

"Some of us may even continue dancing!"

Third place went to Simon Daniel, who owns events company Pheasant Barn, and his dance partner Stephanie Mitchell.

Mary spoke about Supt Bunt's winning performance and said: "It was absolutely inspired.

"We had never seen the lifts that Christian pulled off, it was something quite special and he was a well-deserving winner."

The competition, inspired by the BBC talent show Strictly Come Dancing, is run by Vale House Alzheimer's hospice.

It has raised £100k for the hospice since 2012.

This year's performance is expected to have raised £25,000 from tickets and the dancer's Just Giving pages.

Burglary appeal

OXFORD: Police are appealing for witnesses after a burglary in Lucerne Road on Friday, April 8, at around 11.30pm.

The offenders caused damage and stole a large amount of money in £50 notes, foreign currency, bankcards, two digital cameras, trainers and British commemorative coins.

Call 101 with information.

Compost offer

BICESTER: Three thousand people turned up to Cherwell District Council's free compost giveaway events across this month.

The three April events in Bicester and Banbury saw residents grab free compost made from recycled garden and food waste, and is the eighth year the council has staged a compost giveaway.

Services theft

FRILFORD: Cigarettes and alcohol have been stolen from Frilford Service Station following a break-in last Wednesday.

Between 2.10am and 2.45am, thieves stole the items from a shop display.

Police do not believe the burglary is linked to damage caused by a crowbar to the ATM at the service station on April 17.

Giant house to loom over Oxford

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• The giant balloon set to float above Oxford today

A GIANT inflatable life-size house is set to soar over Oxford today to highlight how out-of-reach houses are for first-time buyers in the area.

The balloon above Florence Park is part of a campaign from Homes for Britain, a national drive which is calling for an end to the current housing crisis.

They say there is a current shortfall of over 500 homes a year in Oxfordshire, with less than three quarters of the houses needed for the county built last year.

Homes for Britain say that years of not building enough homes to meet the area's demand had led to increasingly unaffordable housing costs.

Their campaign has been advertising throughout Oxford as part of the run-up to the election and calls for people to join and 'be a voice, not a victim'.

According to data from the National Housing Federation (NHF) home truths, the average house price in Oxford is now £387,000 - nearly 15 times the average salary.

Oxford-based finance worker Niki Smith, 42, said: "As a single parent in a rented property in Oxford, it's a struggle to find the huge chunk of rent money.

"I just about manage to scrape by, and that's with all the additional bills and cost of raising two young children. I just wish it wasn't so tough to afford a decent, secure home."

David Orr, Chief Executive of NHF, said: "The housing issue affects thousands of Oxford residents every day.

"Today is a great opportunity for our local candidates to hear their city's concerns and answer the call to support our campaign."

The balloon will be raised at Florence Park from 11.30am this morning with the message, 'an affordable home shouldn't be out of reach'.

Woman, 75, stole £85k in benefit fraud

A 75-YEAR-OLD Blackbird Leys woman has been given a 12-month community order after pleading guilty to benefit fraud offences of more than £85,000 over the course of 14 years.

Veronica Knibbs, of Nightingale Avenue, was given the community order on April 16 after Oxford Magistrates Court heard that she had made false statements to Oxford City Council (OCC) and West Oxfordshire District Council (WODC) about her personal savings.

The statements were made between June 2000 and May 2014, with Knibbs receiving over £56,000 in housing and council tax benefit she was not entitled to.

An investigation into her bank account revealed that she has made deposits of up to £18,200, but could not account for the source of her funds.

Knibbs was ordered to complete 150 hours of unpaid community work and ordered to pay over £77,000 in compensation under the Criminal Justice Act 1988 by Judge Ross in January this year.

OCC will receive just over £44,000 in compensation whilst WODC will be compensated with just over £14,000 for financial losses.

Skye's charity up to £120k to fund cancer researcher

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

THE parents of four-year-old Skye Hall, who died from side effects of his treatment from a cancerous brain tumour, have raised enough money to fund a PhD position to work on childhood brain tumours.

Sally and Andrew Hall, from Abingdon, set up Blue Skye Thinking last year in response to Skye being diagnosed with a medulloblastoma.

Medulloblastoma is an aggressive and cancerous brain tumour, which sadly ended Skye's life peacefully last year on August 29.

Over the last nine months, the charity has been working to raise money to fund a post at Newcastle University's Northern Institute for Cancer Research.

Sally said: "It was beyond what we thought might be possible to achieve this, but it is because of the overwhelming support and determination of so many people that this has become a reality.

"It is heartening that so many people are now choosing us as their charity to support."

The majority of drugs used to treat children with conditions like medulloblastoma have been adapted for children as they were developed for adults, which Sally finds 'unacceptable'.

Andrew added: "This is just the beginning, there is a long way to go.

"In the past four months, three other children we knew from the Oxford ward have died as a result of tumours or the result of the treatment.

"The last year has been such an emotional roller-coaster for our family, but by reaching this first goal, something positive has emerged from such an awful situation."

Professor Steve Clifford, of the Northern Institute, said: "We are inspired by Skye's story and the charity's fundraising efforts.

"We are looking forward to beginning this new research project."

The charity's next big goal is to raise £200,000 for a postdoctoral researcher for a full three years, which was kick-started by a recent fundraiser in Nairobi by Sally's brother, which has already raised £18,000.

Blue Skye Thinking has informed the institute that the funding is available and will be working closely with them to start the selection process of the position, which will start in September.

More than 350 UK children face the news that they have a brain tumour each year with only one per cent of cancer funding going towards research into the tumours.

Brain tumours are the number one cancer killer in children and teenagers in the UK.

For more information about the charity or to donate, go to blueskyethinking.com.

Free art festival

OXON: Oxfordshire Artweeks Festival will open across Oxfordshire from May 2 to 25, where residents will be able to visit open studios and exhibitions for free.

Nearly 200 art spaces across the county will open their doors to the public as part of the county's oldest and biggest open studio event.

Academic award

OXFORD: An Oxford Brookes University academic has been recognised by the Royal Microscopical Society's highest award for exceptional contributions to plant sciences.

Professor Chris Hawes will join a select group of 65 individuals to be an RMS honorary fellow. It is an accolade for the most celebrated scientists in the field of microscopy.

Ex-Tesco boss talk

OXFORD: Ex-Tesco CEO Sir Terry Leahy gave an informal talk to Oxford Media and Business School students at Oxford Deaf and Hard of Hearing Centre on Tuesday lunchtime.

Sir Terry gave a 20-minute talk for the students, detailing a PA's role in today's world and how much it has changed before taking questions from the audience.

Sir Terry was CEO of Tesco from 1997 to 2011.

Cllr raises Marston traffic concerns

AN OXFORD city councillor has said that more needs to be done to prevent traffic swamping Marston ahead of an 800-home development being built in nearby Barton.

Mick Haines, independent councillor for Marston, conducted two surveys in his ward last week to assess the current levels of traffic in the area.

In a two hour period last Tuesday morning in Marston Village, Cllr Haines said he counted more than 750 vehicles go past.

And on Marsh Lane between 7.30am and 9.45am last Wednesday, Cllr Haines said the total number of vehicles driving past amounted to more than 1,300.

"With the Barton Park development coming up, something's got to be done – Marsh Lane's at gridlock all the time," said Cllr Haines.

"The people from Marston are all moaning about it and I don't blame them – they can't get out of their driveways because of the traffic.

"Another road out of Barton would certainly help, they could go along the bypass or something, otherwise it is chaotic."

In a statement, Oxfordshire County Council – which is the authority in charge of transport – said they have secured funding towards highway improvements for Barton Park.

The statement continued: "The county council is also developing a package of transport schemes as part of the Access to Headington project that will encourage greater use of public transport and other sustainable modes across the Headington and Marston areas."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truthis that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Bus fare rise

OXON: Bus fares on Stagecoach services in Oxfordshire have been put up by 20p a ticket.

From Monday, the price of Stagecoach fares increased by an average of almost two per cent – equating to a 10p rise on single tickets and 20p on returns on some routes.

Drugs arrests

OXFORD: Seven people have been arrested in relation to the supply of drugs in Oxford.

At around 4pm on April 15, police executed a warrant in Bookbinders Court, St Thomas Street, where they recovered a "significant quantity" of class A drugs and paraphernalia.

Six men aged 19, 38, 28, 38, 31 and 22, and a 28-year-old woman, were all arrested and released on bail until June.

Food fight

OXFORD: Chefs and traders from across the UK will be competing for the public's votes in The British Street Food Festival, being held at Oxford's Castle Quarter from tomorrow.

Street food traders will be selling sharing plates that visitors will vote on through a phone app, with their favourites going on to the finals in London later this year.

Bomb suit marathon runner breaks record

A FARINGDON man has broken a rather unusual world record, as he became the fastest person to run a marathon dressed in a bomb suit on Sunday.

Iain Church, 41, from Badbury Close, completed Sunday's London Marathon in a time of six hours, 28 minutes and two seconds – almost half an hour faster than the previous record Iain first set in 2012.

One member of a four-strong team, Iain, who works at the Army's headquarters in Andover, wore an in-service Mark 6 Explosive Ordnance Disposal Suit weighing 66 pounds.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The suit is designed for slow movements, while the helmet severely restricted how much Iain could move his head.

Asked how it felt to break the world record, Iain said: "It feels pretty good, and the really pleasing thing about it is this time we don't think we've left anything on the table.

"We managed a slightly faster pace than we were aiming for, so we can walk away now thinking that's set the bar pretty high.

"There's no danger of ever going back and doing it again!"

Iain set the previous record of six hours, 55 minutes and 59 seconds in the US Marine Corps Marathon in Washington DC three years ago.

Recalling how the idea came up, Iain said: "It was back in 2012 when I worked at the Army's bomb disposal headquarters.

"Over a pint I suggested I did it in a bomb suit, and the organisers loved it, so then of course I was backed into a corner and I couldn't turn around and say actually it's a silly idea.

"A combination of peer pressure and pride meant that we did the 2012 marathon in a bomb suit, and since then we've had the niggling feeling that we could have done it a lot better.

"So we did it far more scientifically, and it went really well. The whole thing for us from start to finish pretty much went like clockwork."

Iain and the other members of the four-man crew have so far managed to raise £8,500 for the Royal British Legion through their efforts. To donate, go to uk.virginmoneygiving.com/bombsuitchallenge.

Kate's run in dad's honour

A TRAINEE doctor from Oxford ran her first marathon last weekend for the cancer foundation that helped her dad recover from bowel cancer.

Kate Harvey, a surgical registrar from Arthur Street, took part in the London Marathon to raise money for Basingstoke-based charity Pelican Cancer Foundation.

It helps cure 'below the belt' cancers such as bowel, liver, bladder and prostate, with their work aiding in the fight against the devastating disease.

And after seeing her father helped through his cancer recovery in 2012 at Basingstoke and North Hampshire Hospital, Kate decided to give something back.

"I can't speak highly enough about the people who treated my dad in Basingstoke – I was blown away by the team there," she said.

"They were just excellent and were really there when me and my dad needed them."

The keen runner, who has done two half-marathons before, decided to take the plunge and go for the real deal by taking on the 26.2-mile course through the heart of London.

She beat her £1,500 target to raise £1,908.

She said: "I'm absolutely thrilled with how much support I've received and would be over the moon to reach £2,000.

"It was such a fantastic day and it was really inspiring to see so many people working together to help each other over the line.

"If you'd asked me whether I'd do it again at mile 24, I would've sworn at you, but I'll definitely carry on running."

Benefit fraud

CHALGROVE: A Chalgrove man was fined £200 after admitting four charges in relation to his claims for more than £3,650 in housing benefit, council tax benefit and income support.

Dale Johnson, 54, of Brookside, made the claims between April 2011 and February 2012.

Johnson, who was caught via an anonymous tip-off to the national benefit fraud hotline, will have to pay the money back along with extra costs.

Bike burglary

BICESTER: Police are appealing for witnesses after four motorbikes, laptop, motocross equipment and tablets were stolen last week.

Thieves broke into a house in Bicester sometime between last Monday night and the following morning through the bathroom window, and left via the back door.

£246k grant for clubfoot surgeons

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD surgeons offering life-saving trauma training to African healthcare workers have received a £246,000 grant to lead improved care for children with clubfoot.

Staff at Nuffield Orthopaedic Centre (NOC) in Oxford will develop a single set of training materials to ensure care for the condition is consistent across Sub-Saharan Africa.

Clubfoot is a deformity that affects one in 800 people worldwide, where a baby is born with its feet pointing down and inwards as the feet's soles face backwards.

Eighty per cent of those affected are in low and middle-income countries and Sub-Saharan Africa faces many challenges in treating clubfoot with very few numbers of healthcare professionals trained to treat it.

There are also only a few clubfoot clinics in rural areas in Africa so it is often that families will have to travel huge distances to seek treatment.

Without treatment, the condition turns to 'neglected clubfoot', a painful and severely disabling deformity.

The new Africa Clubfoot Training project will be led by Professor Chris Lavy, a consultant surgeon at the NOC and a professor of orthopaedic and tropical surgery at the University of Oxford.

The Tropical Health Education Trust and the Department for International Development's Health Partnership Scheme for 2015 to 2017 will fund the project.

Prof Lavy has worked to build up orthopaedic surgical care for children and surgical training programmes in Africa over the past two decades.

He said: "Clubfoot becomes more painful the longer it is left untreated and we can change the lives of thousands of children across Africa by just teaching the simplest of surgical skills.

"These skills are not difficult to learn and are vital for surgeons in these areas to have."

He will lead a team of 15 healthcare professionals from across the UK in creating new teaching materials using the Ponseti method and provide training in Ethiopia and Rwanda.

• Surgeons are looking to improve care for clubfoot children

The Ponseti method is where a foot is gently manipulated into a better position and put into a cast for five to eight weeks.

Richard Gardner, consultant orthopaedic surgeon at CURE Ethiopia Children's hospital said: "There is just one orthopaedic surgeon for every 1.5 million people in Ethiopia."

He continued: "Around half the population in this region are under 16 and many children are affected by surgically treatable conditions."

Conman jailed for £800k theft from couple

A BICESTER man who conned an elderly couple out of nearly £800,000 and lost it through online gambling has been jailed for three years.

Gary Watts, 57, of George Street in Bicester, was sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on April 20.

The court heard that between January 2014 and March this year, Watts was entrusted to look after the finances of the elderly victims, both aged 92.

During this time, Watts stole almost £800,000 from them, which he subsequently lost through online gambling.

Det Con Krista Thompson, from Thames Valley Police's Economic Crime Unit, said: "This was an extreme abuse of the trust placed in him and has caused a great deal of distress to everyone involved."

Charity volunteers set to climb Britain's tallest peaks

• The women set to take on the climbing challenge

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A GROUP of 12 Oxfordshire women are aspiring to climb Britain's three highest mountains in 24 hours to raise money for charity next month.

The group, aged from their late 30s to early 50s, have been under the direction of Moulsford fitness expert Nix Ticehurst as they attempt to scale Scotland's Ben Nevis, the Lake District's Scafell Pike and Wales' Mount Snowdon in less than 24 hours on May 23.

The challenge is known as The Three Peaks Challenge and was offered through Nix's Wallingford-based outdoor fitness company, Nixercise, on a first-come, first-served basis to all clients.

The group has undertaken additional training since January and they have been practicing for their task by mirroring the steep mountain inclines by exercising on Wittenham Clumps and Berkshire's Streatley Hill.

Caroline Dandy, mum-of-two, has kept a blog diary of their training sessions on Facebook, with one post reading: "Somehow, just when we thought we couldn't do any more, we did MORE... and then EVEN MORE!!"

Several of the team are fundraising for diverse charities, such as the Thames Valley and Chiltern Air Ambulance, the British Lung Foundation, Great Ormond Street Hospital and Diabetes UK.

Anna Mason, 49, from Wallingford, told the Guardian about the group's bond, and said: "We are 12 close knit, very determined women that have enjoyed ourselves immensely and are going to miss all the training once it's all over.

"I personally wanted a challenge, I thought it would be a huge achievement and definitely something for a bucket list but I'm already thinking about my next venture."

Nix said: "The group has trained extremely hard, juggling family commitments to attend sessions.

"Many of the team are now in the best shape of their lives, fitter and healthier at 40 and 50 then they were at 20.

"We are in the best shape possible we can possibly be to tackle those mountains."

Council commits £2.5m to Wantage link road

ALMOST £2.5million to use towards building a new link road in Wantage was approved by Oxfordshire County Council last week.

The council's cabinet agreed to contribute £2.45m capital funding for the £15m Wantage Eastern Link Road, which will connect the A338 at Mably Way to the West Lockinge junction on the A417 Reading Road.

It will act as an access road to the planned 1,500-home Crab Hill development, as well as bypassing the town centre.

Jenny Hannaby, county councillor for Wantage and Grove, was happy that the council had contributed the funds and progress was being made.

She said: "From my point of view I'm just extremely pleased that the cabinet agreed to release this money.

"This is wonderful news, at last something's moving.

"There is still, I believe, uncertainty on when the rest of the money will be forthcoming for this link road, so it's a very long way to go."

Littlemore 270-homes proposal reconsidered

A DECISION to refuse plans for 270 houses on land south of Armstrong Road in Littlemore had been recommended to be overturned last night by Oxford City Council officers.

Proposals to build 104 houses and 166 flats had been turned down by the council's East Area Planning Committee on April 8 because of concerns of over-development on the site.

But the refusal has been called in for review by 13 city councillors on the grounds that sites for housing is a priority for the authority – with the land in question being included in the council's local plan.

The council's Planning Review Committee was set to make a decision whether to allow the housing last night as the Guardian went to press.

Council leader Bob Price was one of those who called the decision in.

He said: "The reasons that were given for refusal are not exclusively planning reasons.

"If you give non-planning reasons to turn down a planning application, you're vulnerable to an appeal, and when one looks at the site, it is a very welcome addition to the housing stock.

"We have a real housing crisis and sites of this size rarely become available, so we are very keen to make certain that the land is used in the best way possible."

The planning committee had voted five votes to two against the development, citing concerns over increased traffic and a lack of infrastructure in the area.

East Area Planning Committee member Ruthi Brandt, who abstained at the original meeting, said she was pleased the site was being looked at again.

She said: "I think the right decision would have been to defer actually, not a rejection or approval.

"There have been some important concerns raised in terms of public transport, but it's also a great site in terms of providing affordable housing, which in the city everyone knows we desperately need."

See next week's Oxfordshire Guardian for the outcome.

Oxford Half Marathon entries now open

EARLY bird entries for the Oxford Half Marathon opened last week ahead of this year's race in October.

A new route will be in place for the event, which is now in its fifth year.

It will start and finish at St Giles' and will cover historical sites of Oxford through 13.1 miles of closed, flat road.

Jamie Warren, from race organisers GO2, said: "The marathon is set to be a real stand out event for autumn running, a city start and finish will improve the race experience for runners and spectators alike.

"Throughout the new course, you are guaranteed all the stunning sights and experiences that Oxford has to offer."

Nick Read, of title sponsor Vitality, said, "We are delighted to announce the launch of the event and we look forward to seeing all of the runners partake in October."

He added: "The organisers expect it to be a sell out."

Runners will all receive a free finishers t-shirt, medal and goody bag on the day.

For more details and to register, visit oxfordhalf.co.uk.

News Bites

Benefit fraud

OXFORD: An Oxford man was convicted on two charges of benefit fraud amounting to over £4,000 this month.

Adrian Clark, previously a resident of Wytham Street, pleaded guilty to both offences and was asked to pay back the money he illegally claimed.

Clark had claimed housing benefit for the house from Oxford City Council in 2011, but an audit of the claim found he had left the address some time earlier and failed to report the change as he continued to receive his unentitled benefit, totalling to £4,095.

Babies feel pain

OXFORD: Babies' brains 'light up' in a very similar way to adults when they are exposed to the same painful stimulus as adults, a study by Oxford University has found.

The study looked at 10 healthy infants between one and six days old as well as 10 healthy adults aged 23-36.

The babies were from the John Radcliffe Hospital, and adult volunteers from Oxford University staff and students.

The babies, accompanied by parents and clinical staff, had MRI scans taken of their brain as they were poked on the bottom of their feet.

The babies were usually asleep during the scans.

Competition

WIN a Two by Two movie goody bag!

FROM this Friday you'll be able to take part in one of the great stories of all time- Noah's Ark!

With warnings of a flood sweeping the land, the animals travel to the safety of the Ark. Animals are boarding two by two - Lions, Gorillas, Hippos, Nestrians…. Wait a minute, Nestrians?! Unfortunately for Finny and his dad, the clumsy Nestrians in question, they are not on the list and so are not allowed on! However with a bit of imagination and a spot of luck they manage to sneak on board, but their troubles are only just beginning.

No sooner is the Ark underway, Finny and his new friend Leah fall over board. Now the pair must learn to work together and brave the elements in their quest to find higher ground while fighting off hungry predators with the help of some unlikely friends. Meanwhile, on board the Ark their parents must set aside their differences and hatch a plan to turn the Ark around and make it back in time to rescue the kids.

Closing date:
Friday, May 15, 2015

You and a friend can board the ark in TWO BY TWO on May 1, Hurrah! Hurrah!

Win prizes!

We have 4 great merchandising packs to give away. Each contains a poncho towel for kids, branded with the film poster, a beach ball, bag, reusable stickers and scene sheet against background of the film poster. To be in with a chance of winning a pack all you have to do is answer this simple question:

Q: What is the name of the new friend Finny makes on board the Ark?

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Affordable Home Furniture

Decorating and furnishing a home can be expensive. While it's great to be able to invest in some high quality durable oak and pine furniture - what about decorating the rest of the house?

There's so much to think about and it can seem as if the costs quickly spirals out of control. Sometimes, the thought of decorating your home is so daunting and overwhelming that the makeover just gets left on the to-do list for years at a time.

At A Touch of Pine, we're always conscious of costs. We aim to provide the best quality furniture so that every item you choose is a sound investment for your home. Over the years - and we've been in the business of selling quality furniture for over 25 years now! - we've learned a thing or two about decorating a home in style and without breaking the bank.

It's always wise to spend the majority of your budget on items such as your dining room table, your beds and wardrobes, as these furniture pieces will last a lifetime. Affordable accessories and decorations like cushions, rugs, vases, mirrors and pictures are much easier to come by than new furniture and can be used to add every-changing accents to your home.

Bedroom remodelling ideas: add colour with cushions. Most soft furnishings and statement pieces compliment solid oak or pine furniture without problems, and - to save even more - you could create your own accessories.

Personalised pictures and collages are much more homely than a generic print, not to mention that holiday or family photos bring with them a wealth of cherished memories. For seasonal colour, fill jars and vases with pine cones the kids have collected in the park, or pebbles from your beach holiday.

Since you're not likely to change them often, it's easy to plan your decor around your furniture. Look out for bargain deals at high street stores for curtains, accessories, rugs and textiles. Charity shops and small antique shops are often a great source of unusual decorative items.

These days, most people don't worry about items matching as a strategic mishmash looks fantastic and never goes out of fashion. There's nothing better at cheering you up than a multi-coloured living room or a bright and warming bedroom!

An affordable, beautiful home is something that everybody wants. Here at A Touch of Pine, we've got both the affordable home furniture and the home decor know-how to be able to help you achieve just that. And right now, there are still a few days left of our Spring Frenzy Sale with huge reductions right across all our ranges. So if new furniture has been on your shopping list for a while, why not come in and see what we have in store for you?

There's a lot going on in our stores right now!

April and May are exciting months. Spring gets underway. The weather gets better and we're suddenly all more cheerful and invariably, thoughts turn to home improvement, gardening and spending more time outside.

When it gets busy like that, we love to make your lives a little easier, which is why we're saving some of our very best offers when they can do the most good. And to make sure you're not missing anything, here's a little summary.

#ChallengeCompleted!

SWIMMERS from Oxfordshire joined over 22,000 other participants across the UK to complete their Swimathon 2015 challenges. Once again, Swimathon took place at over 600 pools nationwide, helping to raise vital funds for Marie Curie.

Rebecca Dade, community fundraiser for Oxfordshire, said: "Congratulations to all the swimmers who trained so hard to complete their challenges, they should be very proud of both their efforts in the water and in raising vital funds.

"All the money raised for Marie Curie will help make a huge difference to terminally ill people who wish to spend their final days at home surrounded by their loved ones."

Swimathon president and Olympic Gold Medallist, Duncan Goodhew, visited a number of pools around the UK, kicking the weekend off at Cardiff International Pool.

He said: "What a fantastic weekend! It was great to see so many enthusiastic swimmers taking on the challenge.

"The atmosphere was electric at every pool and I want to thank everyone involved, they've really done an amazing job both in the pool and with their fundraising.

"Over the past 28 years we've had over half a million people taking part in Swimathon, raising more than £40million for charity and it's great to see this community growing and taking part this year to raise funds for Marie Curie."

TV presenter and interior designer Linda Barker took on her Swimathon Challenge at the London Aquatics Centre on Sunday, April 19, where over 600 participants took to the pool over the day.

She said: "Congratulations on completing your swim and thank you so much for all your hard work. You have done so well to complete this year's Swimathon challenge.

"By swimming this weekend you have made such a massive impact. The money you've raised will help Marie Curie care for those living with a terminal illness and their families.

"Well done for all your swimming and fundraising efforts."

Also taking on her challenge at the London Aquatics Centre was Commonwealth gold medallist Siobhan O'Connor.

She said: "What a great day. Well done to everyone who swam this weekend and to those who visited their local pool to show support.

"I feel honoured to have taken part in such a wonderful event. It's seeing people at events like this that makes me realise why I love swimming – what a fantastic way to end the weekend."

Marie Curie provides care and support to over 40,000 people living with terminal illnesses out in the community or in one of its nine hospices.

Bringing country back

CC SMUGGLERS will be bringing the sounds of the '50s and '60s to The Bullingdon tonight, April 30.

In the current climate where country music is making a resurgence in the mainstream music charts, six friends are hoping their blend of music - inspired by the sounds of Elvis Presley and Johnny Cash with a hint country and swing - will go down well on Cowley Road.

Richie Prynne, Ryan Thomas, Sam Barret, Dan Edwards, Flow Toulman and Dave Marks will take to the stage at 7.30pm.

"It was always our intention to play our own blend of blues and country and the swing influences developed a little later," Richie told the Guardian.

"The music is a constantly evolving beast but it's always based around a fresh blend of good proper authentic music.

"Also, we've never performed at The Bullingdon and in fact, the only time we've been in Oxfordshire is to headline the Wilderness Stage at Wilderness Festival last year.

"So we're excited to get into the live music scene there and make ourselves known," he continued.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

And the Bedfordshire band will be spending a lot of time in Oxfordshire during the summer months, performing at Cornbury Music Festival and Wilderness Festival in July and August.

But their visit to The Bullingdon tonight comes after much anticipation following the release of their debut EP 'Write What You Know', which includes their latest track, 'How Long'.

"'How Long' is a snapshot from some of my most desperate times," he said.

"There is no progress without sacrifice said someone once, and when things around you are falling apart it makes you reconsider the balance of these sacrifices and re-measure their value – 'How long must I lose all I have, before I take it back.'"

Hoke's Bluff

PERFORMED by Gemma Paintin and James Stenhouse, 'Hoke's Bluff' will be at the Oxford Playhouse next Thursday and Friday.

A tale of high school sport, inspiring locker room speeches and an underdog's story will keep the audience on their seats at the Beaumont Street theatre.

The shows start at 7.30pm on Thursday, May 7, and Friday, May 8, and are suitable for over 12s.

Luke Jermay

MAGICIAN, writer and jaw dropper Luke Jermay will be hitting Oxfordshire with magic when he visits The Theatre in Chipping Norton on Saturday, May 2.

The 29-year-old from Essex started to learn magic aged 12, and published his first book aged 15.

The show starts at 7.45pm.

Sean Lock

COMEDIAN Sean Lock will be bringing his 'Works in Progress' to the Cornerstone Arts Centre in Didcot tonight, Thursday April 30.

The 52-year-old is known for appearing on the panel show '8 out of 10 Cats'.

The gig starts at 8pm.

Acoustics in Abingdon

ACOUSTIC singer-song writer and multi-instrumentalist Louise Jordan will be bringing her soft tunes to The Unicorn Theatre in Abingdon next Thursday, 7 May.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Currently embarking on a six-week tour around the UK to promote her latest album 'Veritas' (which means 'truth' in English), the musician comes to Thames Street off the back of receiving positive reviews from many critics; something that the Winchester-born musician is very proud of.

"What really gives me strength and confidence to perform is the individual connections music allows me to make with people," the 31-year-old told the Guardian.

"When I receive an email, a message or when I speak with someone after a gig and they explain how a song has challenged their thinking or helped reconnect them with a memory, I am the happiest I can be.

"That's really why I love touring and performing live.

"I am always really pleased when my music is well received because communicating through music is more than a passion for me, it's my life."

The performer, who was once described by fellow musician and former Radio 2 presenter Mike Harding as, 'absolutely, totally and completely brilliant' uses a range of instruments in her songs.

However, the musician stated that being a multi-instrumentalist does have its pros and cons.

"I play guitar, piano and cello and I believe that being a multi-instrumentalist is both a blessing and a curse," she said.

"On the one hand I don't need to spend much time arranging new songs and recordings as this comes fairly naturally.

"I am always thinking of ways to introduce new textures on the instruments I play as well as on others.

She added: "It is a challenging profession in many ways but I'm privileged to do it and I don't allow the little things to challenge me."

Tickets cost £10 with the doors at the Thames Street venue opening for 7.30pm.

Wombats were worth the wait

"I HAD a walk through Oxford at lunch time and I forgot how beautiful this city is."

This was how lead singer Matthew Murphy addressed the crowd when indie rock group The Wombats performed at Oxford's O2 Academy on Wednesday, April 15.

After a four year wait since their last album was released, The Wombats, who consist of Matthew 'Murph' Murphy (lead singer, guitar and keyboard), Daniel 'Dan' Higgins (drums, percussion, keyboard and backing vocals) and Tord Overland Knudsen (bass guitar, guitar, keyboard and backing vocals) arrived at the Cowley Road venue to promote their latest album 'Glitterbug'.

It is only the group's third collection of songs since their debut album was released back in 2007.

However, the three friends proved that the saying 'quality not quantity' rings true, as the group put on a five-star show, which left their diehard fans buzzing.

Supported by fellow indie rock bands Compny and Darlia, who got the crowd even more excited, The Wombats took to the stage to one of the loudest cheers you will ever hear, as many have waited

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

nearly four years for this moment.

They began the gig with one of their latest hits 'Your Body Is a Weapon', which got a riotous reaction from the crowd.

"My highlight was when Murph dedicated the song 'Little Miss Pipedream' to all their fans, as it's not one of their biggest hits but still got everyone singing along," Wombats fan and audience member Bronwen Pope-Wilby said after the show.

"The whole concert was great with such high energy being generated from both the band and crowd.

"I also thought the support group Darlia were good, as it was great to hear new music."

Interacting with their audience was a continuous theme on the night. The trio covered every inch of the stage as Tord in particular rocked out with fans with his extremely energetic guitar playing, followed up by the threesome encouraging the baying fans to join in every song they performed.

Tracks from the latest album, such as 'Jump Into the Fog', 'Give me a Try' and 'Greek Tragedy' all got the fans bouncing on their feet, but undoubtedly the biggest cheer of the night came when a hit nearly eight years old begin to play.

"Everyone went absolutely crazy for Kill the Director and the atmosphere was awesome," Bronwen said.

"I have always wanted to see The Wombats live and was lucky to see them as they don't tour the UK that often.

"I would definitely see them again."

Fans even demanded an encore when the gig came to it's conclusion, which the group duly accepted.

They finished the night by performing their 2008 hit 'Let's Dance to Joy Division', which again left a positive vibe in the venue.

Less than 12 hours after their fantastic performance at the O2, the popular band were performing in Radio One's Live Lounge where they covered Carly Rae Jepsen's latest hit, 'I Really Like You', which has been viewed more than 160,000 times on YouTube.

For more information about their current tour, go to their website: thewombats.co.uk.

Choir members needed to form the From Scratch Churchill Memorial Extravaganza Choir

CHOIR members of all ages are required to form an ambitious from scratch choir to perform at the Sheldonian Theatre on Thursday 7th May 2015. Ideal to banish those election day blues.

Singers need to be competent in their range and able to attend the on-day rehearsal. A separate children's choir is envisaged with the children required to dress in 1940's-style clothing and to evoke the Second World War and VE day.

Please contact the producer on 01189 478280 or see website for details www.churchillproms.com Thank you.

The Cotswold Voices

Singathon

On Saturday 9th May, community choir, The Cotswold Voices, will be carrying out a sponsored singathon. The event will take place from 10am-4pm in the Brunel Shopping Centre, Swindon, and all money raised will be given to Prospect Hospice in Swindon. Most of the choir members live in and around the West Oxfordshire area.

Jeanie Pugh, a founder member of the choir and resident of Faringdon, sadly passed away at the end of last year and this singathon is being held in memory of her, and to give something back to Prospect Hospice who gave such invaluable support and care to both Jeanie and her family.

We'd love to see as many different faces as possible in the crowd on the 9th May, and hope that people will give generously to a fantastic cause. If you won't be around on the day itself, but would like to donate please visit the following link : http://www.justgiving.com/Rowan-Harris or contact Rowan Harris on 01367 860515.

We hope to raise a huge amount for a brilliant charity that relies on the kindness of donations

New Fiat tried and tested

DRIVEN: Fiat 500X 1.6 Multijet Popstar

By Philip Shoulder

INTRODUCING the new FIAT 500X, the latest addition to the FIAT 500 family – all set to take on crossover rivals including the Peugeot 2008, Vauxhall Mokka and Renault Captur.

With two versions on offer – the 500X and 500X Cross - there is a 500X to suit every need and taste: one is designed to appeal to those with a metropolitan outlook, while another, more rugged version has been designed with more active lifestyles in mind.

A choice of 12 different body colours and eight different designs for the 16, 17 and 18-inch alloy wheels will help owners personalise the look of their FIAT 500X.

Engines available at launch include a 138bhp 1.4-litre Turbo MultiAir2, a 109bhp 1.6-litre E-torQ, (which both come in front wheel drive form) as well as a diesel 118bhp 1.6-litre MultiJet II (front-wheel drive) and a 138bhp 2.0-litre MultiJet II with four-wheel drive and a nine-speed automatic transmission.

Manual transmissions all use six ratios, with the exception of the five speed 1.6 litre E-torQ.

Tested here is the predicted best seller, the 1.6 litre 118bhp diesel.

On the road it feels brisk enough, zipping from 0-62mph in 10.5 seconds, while still returning 69.9mpg and emitting 109g/km of CO2.

There's a decent amount of torque available from under 2,000rpm and the 500X pulls cleanly up to 4,000rpm, which combined with the slick gear change, makes for effortless progress.

Refinement levels aren't class leading however, as there's a fair amount of engine clatter audible in the cabin, and also wind and road noise on the motorway.

Despite this, comfort levels are pretty good though, as the ride mostly feels pliant once under way, although things can get a little fidgety at lower speeds around town.

Being a crossover vehicle, you won't be expecting handling thrills, but nevertheless the 500X remains composed and stable, with good levels of grip through corners.

Steering can feel a tad woolly at times, but is of a well-judged weight and responds quickly.

Step inside the cabin of the 500X and you're greeted with a style and ambiance that builds on the funky retro charm of the 500 supermini.

Here things are more sophisticated and elegant, although that sense of fun and quirkiness remains. The quality of interior materials is generally higher, too.

Driving position is comfortable and affords a slightly elevated view of the road ahead over a regular hatchback. The cabin is spacious and there's a decent array of cubbies for storage.

There's 350 litres of luggage capacity, meaning the 500X is well geared up for family duties.

Verdict: Fiat's stylish and spacious new crossover has all the necessary ingredients needed to make it a winner in this highly competitive sector.

P&G · Gillette

Gillette Research & Development

Precision Engineer Role, Reading UK

Concept Prototyping Group is responsible for partnering on the development of early stage product prototypes and bespoke scientific research equipment.

We have an exciting role working closely with Design Engineering and Scientist colleagues on varied projects within a portfolio that supports the innovation pipeline for the business.

In the role you will be largely workshop based, where you will execute component and assembly manufacturing ranging from one-offs to small batch sizes. Also you will partner with colleagues to develop ideas and translate design concepts into manufacturable solutions.

In order to do this, you will have the ability to work both with and without drawings, be CAD/CAM literate and have extensive skills on a range of machine tools and diverse machining processes. CNC programming experience is also essential. Ideally experience from a tool making, instrument making or model making background with comprehensive Apprenticeship foundations is desired.

In addition to your practical skills and aptitude, you will also need to have excellent communication skills to build effective working relationships with colleagues around the business. We expect you to be able to work independently to put forward your own ideas and to manage your own design projects.

As well as competitive salaries, the organisation offers substantial scope for personal growth and development and a class leading and flexible benefits package including; defined contribution pension scheme with life assurance, share ownership scheme, private healthcare, and an annual leave entitlement of 24 days

Attractive Compensation and Benefits – please enquire for further details

U's enjoy comfortable win over Cambridge

OXFORD United brought the curtains down for the season at the Kassam Stadium with a clinical and dominant 2-0 win over a poor Cambridge United.

The U's supporter's player of the season, Danny Hylton, put in a man-of-the-match display as he wrapped up the points with a fine header.

Kemar Roofe had scored a curler to set up a great afternoon for Oxford, before Hylton made it two just before half-time.

The win completes an unbeaten run of seven games, which is the U's best of the season.

United manager, Michael Appleton claimed he was disappointed not to see more goals from his side but was impressed with the U's dominant display.

Appleton said after the game: "We had a lot of good performances from the players, we really opened them up and could have scored six or seven."

Hylton could have scored in the opening few minutes after rounding Cambridge's goalkeeper Will Norris, but couldn't direct the shot between the Cambridge posts.

It was a feisty first-half affair but after some intricate attacking play in the Cambridge half, Hylton laid the ball onto Roofe who curled in the opener from just inside the box on 31 minutes.

Stand-in skipper Johnny Mullins was then taken off after a collision with Cambridge's Tom Elliot as the visitors sought to find an equaliser through two solid efforts from Sullay Kaikai.

But just on the stroke of half time, United came close with a deflected Chey Dunkley header before Hylton rose highest to knock in Danny Rose's corner to punish sloppy Cambridge defending.

The second half got off to a flier as both sides missed opportunities in the first five minutes with Alex MacDonald coming close twice, whilst substitute Robbie Simpson attempted a bicycle kick for Cambridge soon afterwards.

Cambridge's Harrison Dunk then tried an ambitious long-range effort on the hour that slipped just past Jamie Ashdown's right hand post in Cambridge's closest effort of the game.

MacDonald should have found a third for United after he fired a shot from the edge of the box with 20 minutes left to play, but saw his effort cannon off the post.

A last minute chance also went amiss for United after Patrick Hoban played in Kyle Vassell for a one-on-one showdown with Norris but the keeper won the battle with the block.

Oxford now head to Wales to face Newport County on Saturday afternoon for their last game of the season as they looked to end on a high.

Welsh unveil new signings

LONDON Welsh have strengthened their side for next season in the Championship with the addition of six new signings.

The Exiles recruited half-backs Joe Carlisle and Josh Davies yesterday, who join back row signings Kieran Murphy, Ryan Hudson, Gus Jones and Will Skuse, who were signed on Tuesday.

Fly half Carlisle joins Welsh after a season with Italian side Treviso, where he made appearances in the inaugural Champions Cup.

Carlisle is vastly experienced and has scored 154 points in 48 Premiership appearances.

Scrum half Davies joins from Plymouth Albion and came through the Newport Gwent Dragons Academy and has represented Wales at U18 and U19.

Number eight Murphy joins from French side Brive, and has previously played for Scarlets.

Flanker Hodgson joins from Jersey having played Super Rugby for Melbourne Rebels and Western Force, where he picked up player's player and player of the year awards.

Skuse joins from Bath, while Jones joins from London Wasps and is capped by England at U20 level.

Yussuf brace for Oxford City

OXFORD City missed out on the Vanarama Football Conference's North Division play-offs by a single point despite defeating the team above them, Guiseley, 4-2 in a glorious end-of season encounter at Court Place Farm.

Adi Yussuf scored twice and missed a penalty as City's early lead was pegged back to 2-2 before City took charge to put Guiseley to the sword.

City finish sixth for the season but can consider themselves unlucky to not be in the play-offs, following their strong attacking performance over their Yorkshire visitors.

Declan Benjamin won a penalty for City on the 11th minute but Yussuf's effort was saved, although a minute later City went in front through a Lee Henderson header.

Yussuf put the ball in the net for a second in the 28th minute; making amends for his penalty miss as the teams headed into the break.

Guiseley came out fighting in the second half, and they pulled level through Liam Dickinson's deflected free kick in the 54th minute and an effort from Adam Boyes just a minute after.

City retook the lead when Tom Winters fired home into the corner of the net in the 70th minute and Winters then assisted Yussuf to score the fourth and his second of the game in the 85th.

Yussuf, who's scored 27 goals this season, was awarded Supporter's player of the year following Saturday's match.

Exiles give Tigers a scare

LONDON Welsh nearly caused a big scare as they threatened to get their first win at Welford Road in nearly 20 years at the weekend, but went down 38-17 to Leicester Tigers.

The Exiles had a half-time lead thanks to Koree Britton's try but two second-half scores from Laurence Pearce and the sending off of Chris Hala'ufia compounded in another defeat for Welsh.

The Exiles were left to fend off the advancing Tigers with just 14 men for the remaining 25 minutes as Sam Harrison, Jamie Gibson and Tom Youngs all touched down for Leicester.

Opeti Fonua powered another try over for Welsh but the game was already out of their hands by that point.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The home side came out of the blocks quickly as Ben Youngs took advantage of a lineout blunder to open the scoring and Freddie Burns added the conversion.

The visitors rallied and surprised the home side with their determination to not drop their heads as they frustrated the Tiger's attack.

However, the Exiles missed opportunities through a Chris Elder's penalty and Ben West knocking the ball forward near when charging for the line.

Elder managed to convert his next penalty attempt and when handed a third penalty opportunity of the day, scuppered his efforts to close the gap.

The game was paused whilst Hala'ufia took out a wandering streaker, before the number eight then laid the ball on to a rushing Britton to put Welsh in front as the try was converted for a 10-7 half-time score.

Leicester came out with a newfound tempo and intensity and within two minutes, Pearce restored the Tiger's lead.

Matthew Tait then unlocked the Welsh defence and Pearce was on-hand to score his second try of the day.

Welsh's game then looked up when Hala'ufia's tackle on Pearce drew a red card from referee Tim Wigglesworth, leaving the Exiles 25 minutes to play with 14 men.

Harrison then dived over a ruck for another Tigers try before Gibson forced his way over in the corner.

Despite Fonua managing to take advantage of a penalty to score a second for the Welsh, the Tigers' Youngs went over to finish the scoring in the dying minutes.

Narrow win for Oxford Cricket Club

OXFORD Cricket Club secured a five-run victory at Amersham thanks to Brad Sutherland and Adam Hall's century opening partnership in the Royal London Club Championship first round.

Sutherland hit 62 of 67 balls, making the boundary with fours eight times whilst Hall, the first wicket, scored 45 for an overall partnership of 117.

But Oxford then collapsed to a 181-8 before an unbroken ninth-wicket stand of 52 between Henry Pickford (26 not out) and Richard Musk (24 not out) allowed Oxford to post 233-8 from 45 overs.

Amersham's first wicket didn't come until 99 runs as Adam Ali hit 81 and Stuart Rogers made 55 runs.

Oxford's Sean Thornton took 1-27 from his nine overs and held them to a 228-5 victory for Oxford by five runs.

Banbury, who had six players on Oxfordshire duty, fell at the first hurdle, due to a three-wicket defeat at Market Harborough.

The whole Banbury side was bowled out for 183 after winning the toss and deciding to bat. Harborough eventually cruised home to 186-7 with five balls to spare.

Close affair for Oxford RL

OXFORD RL narrowly defeated Hemel Stags 31-28 in a tense and close contest at Iffley Road on Sunday.

Oxford charged out from the off as they piled the pressure on Hemel, and secured a try through Adam Brook before Hemel took the lead through a Michael Brown try and a John Swindells conversion.

Hemel then scored again through Alex Anthony and a Swindells conversion before Oxford hit back through Sean Morris and a Mark Barlow conversion.

Hemel's Anthony darted forwards for his second of the day before Marcus Brooker going over in response.

Hemel looked more dominant and quick passing led to debutant Vinny Finnigan with a try before Oxford ended the half on top with a try from Conroy for a 22-20 score.

The Blues then took a commanding lead as Richards made amends before Conroy added another with his second of the day.

Hemel kept coming and Jamie O'Callaghan kept the scores close as he went over for a try but a one-pointer for Barlow secured the win.

Oxford RL travel to Newcastle Thunder this Sunday.

Harlequins lose

RUGBY: Oxford Harlequins finished the season in 13th place in National League 3 South West after they recorded their ninth consecutive defeat with a heavy 59-14 defeat to Bournemouth on April 18 at North Hinksey in Oxford.

They finish their season on 33 points, 19 more than bottom-placed Chard, racking up 20 defeats over the course of the season and managing only six wins.

Stars' awards

ICE HOCKEY: James Skaife won four awards at the Oxford City Stars ends of season awards evening on Saturday.

The netminder's haul includes Supporter's Player of the Year, which fans voted for in an online poll.

He was also named Best Defender, Coaches' Player of the Year and Media Player of the Year.

The events were given out at the awards night at the Cherwell Boathouse, which was attended by supporters, sponsors, the whole team and coaching staff.

Missed cut

GOLF: Abingdon golfer Eddie Pepperell missed the cut at the Volvo China Open in Shanghai on Friday.

Pepperell hit a round of 75 in round one but his second round 73 wasn't enough to make the cut at the event.

China's Wu Ashun became the first Chinese player to win a European Tour event on home soil as he captured the event by a single stroke.

Jerez 'a special place' for Oxford's Smith

MONSTER Yamaha Tech3 team rider Bradley Smith has spoken of his excitement ahead of round four of the 2015 MotoGP World Championship as the competition heads to Europe.

The competition's European run starts in Andalusia's Circuito de Jerez 4.4km circuit - a firm favourite for fans and riders alike.

Smith is aiming to follow up his double of top-six finishes in the last races with another strong performance for his team.

Smith, who's seventh in the championship on 28 points, said: "I'm really excited about racing at Jerez as I am to continue the positive momentum that I've had so far this season."

Smith, who is now riding aboard the Yamaha YZR-M1 for the third consecutive year, is confident he can master the bike to his advantage.

Smith said: "I know the bike and the guys all well by now and I know we can be strong here in front of the superb crowd.

"It's time to take to the European soil and fight for this.

"This track has a special place in my heart."

Smith won his first race at the Spanish circuit in the 125cc class back in 2009, and is aiming to extend his positive record on the circuit this weekend.

Williams announce £42.5m loss

GROVE-BASED F1 team Williams Martini Racing has announced a £42.5m loss in 2014, in what is seen as a 'hangover' from the team's 2013 season.

Williams Grand Prix Holdings PLC announced the group's financial result for the year ending December 31, 2014 on Monday.

The team claims to have embarked on a turnaround strategy in 2013 to 'reinvigorate the performance' of the team and that 2014 was seen as a 'year of transition', which they claim the financial results reflect.

The revenue reported for 2014 was £90.2m, which is a £42.5m loss from 2013, and Williams state the loss was driven by lower revenue and higher costs in the Formula One operation.

In a statement, the team said: "The Formula One operation made a step forward on the track in 2014, and that success will be reflected in increased commercial rights and sponsorship income this year."

Williams state they expect financial results for 2015 to be 'materially more favourable' than 2014.

Mike O'Driscoll, group chief executive officer, said: "What we are reporting today is essentially a hangover."

He added: "We have made very good progress against those objectives, investing significantly in people, facilities, and technology which we believe will provide a solid foundation for the future."

STORMING SAINTS CHARGE BACK TO DEFEAT APACHE

OXFORD Saints came back from a huge half-time deficit to defeat Bristol Apache in a stunning second-half performance to win 35-34 at Abingdon Rugby Ground on Saturday.

The Saints overcame the largest first-half deficit they had ever experienced in 15 years to take the win in the BAFNAL Division II South West Conference game.

Apache had been the favourites heading into the game but the Saints fought back to secure a second consecutive win of the season.

A large home crowd were present as Bristol's strong passing game was evident as they charged into a 6-0 lead before Saints quarterback Ben Denton found receiver Sam Armstrong to sprint 33 yards to level the scores up at 6-6.

However, the first half then became a torrid affair for the Saints as the Apache's game opened them up impressively, as the Bristol quarterback found

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

two receivers to give the Apache a 19-6 lead.

The Oxford attack couldn't break the Apache defence and Bristol once again charged forward, securing another passing touchdown and field goal to lead before the break with a 28-6 score line.

The second half couldn't have been more different as the Oxford offence surged to life and a James Walter touchdown with an extra point kick from Spencer Duffy brought the score back to 28-13.

Oxford cornerback Mike Turner then stole a pass, running 72 yards to the Bristol endzone before another Oxford interception led to Saints safety Michael Bearman charging over the endzone just minutes after Turner.

With the scoreline at 28-27, Bristol responded well as they put together a 58-yard drive ending with another Touchdown pass to move the score to 34-27.

However, the Saints weren't finished yet and running back, Kev Brooks dived for the line to bring the score to 34-33.

Saints head coach, Andrew Day, called for a two-point conversion instead of the extra point kick and Denton threw for Rich 'Gronkowski' Bloomer to cross the endzone, to give Oxford the lead.

The remaining fourth quarter was ferociously tense but the Saints defence ground out a resolute performance to hold Bristol back.

With six seconds on the clock, Turner knocked a pass that was sailing for a Bristol receiver near the endzone for a final score of 35-34.

Saints defensive coach Andy Peart said after the game: "It was such an amazing game, one of the most incredible games our players have been a part of.

"I have so much pride for the players and have to thank the fans for the atmosphere, it was electric."

Saints next travel to the Swindon Storm this Sunday, looking to add to the lead at the top of the conference.
